ETHICS STUDES HOLD PROHIBITION DEBATE

Economical, Moral and Ethical Results Are Discussed By Six

Six students in the Class of Ethics, taught by Dr. V. H. Vartanian, debated last Monday on the question: Resolved, That Prohibition Has Been a Failure Ethically. The following debated: Affirmative—Corrine Jensen, Thomas Byrne, and Neil Chapman; negative—Alfreda Sandberg, Donald Furness, and Howard Hansen. Five minutes were allowed for each constructive argument.

Prohibition a Failure

Corrine Jensen, first speaker for the affirmative, defined prohibition as prevention of the law. She said Prohibition has been a failure because: First, there is increased drinking among young people as shown by juvenile arrests and crimes by youth under influence of bootleg liquor; second, that there is a decrease in national revenues; third, that it has not been enforced, and that good laws automatically are enforced; and fourth, that the eighteenth amendment has put a restriction on personal freedom which is wrong ethically.

Omaha Demands Much Student Talent in Music

"I have received a great many calls from people of Omaha for student talent, and I am anxious to satisfy such a demand as soon as the different organizations are ready," declared Professor Logan of the Music Department to the orchestra which met in the Conservatory last Wednesday.

"School Fortunate"

"I think that the school is indeed fortunate to have such a talented musician as Mr. Frank Seidl of South high school as the director of the orchestra," he continued.

Twenty Out

Twenty students turned out for the orchestra rehearsal which was the first to be conducted by Mr. Seidl.

Choir Shows Loyalty

The choir, according to Professor Logan, is better than ever before. Vests will be purchased soon and plans are ready for the tour.

Vote Rules For Absence

Maynard Van Dyke, business manager, states that the choir has voted that three consecutive absences which are unexcused will mean the dropping of the absentee.

Loyalty Essential

"The loyalty of the school and the members of the different organizations is vitally essential for the success of any enterprise," concluded Mr. Logan.

HOMECOMING

The greatest day in the history of this university is not far away. Old grads will return to their Alma Mater and old friendships will be revived. Former teachers will meet their by-gone students. Fraternity brothers will be brought together and sorority sisters will review past acquaintances. They will not recognize the old campus at first. New improvements have taken place since their going. The faculty has changed, and some faces will be new to the former students. Past history will be discussed. The plans for Homecoming Day are in the hands of the Student Council, and with the cooperation of the entire student body, the event of November 10 will be remembered in the history of the U. of O.

Committee of Social Affairs Plans Dates

Gateway Will Report All Activities to Readers Every Week.

The Social Committee of the faculty met regularly on October 28. The matter of the Social Committee Rules was placed before the committee with the frat recommendations to draft them and place them in the hands of the various organizations of the campus. The Social Committee will give a report each week in the Gateway, to avoid activity conflicts, of parties coming within the next six days. The use of the "Gym" for college parties was enthusiastically approved by the committee.

Corrine Jensen, first speaker for the affirmative, defined prohibition as prevention of the law. She said Prohibition has been a failure because: First, there is increased drinking among young people as shown by juvenile arrests and crimes by youth under influence of bootleg liquor; second, that there is a decrease in national revenues; third, that it has not been enforced, and that good laws automatically are enforced; and fourth, that the eighteenth amendment has put a restriction on personal freedom which is wrong ethically.

Debaters Make Plans For Coming Season

Meet at C. of O. Thursday for Further Discussion of Years Work.

The first pre-season meeting of the candidates for debating was held last Thursday evening in the U. of O. Library. Due, undoubtedly, to the stormy weather, the attendance was very small. Because more did not turn out, it was decided to hold another meeting tomorrow night on the third floor of the College of Commerce Building at eight o'clock.

Reference Shelf Used

Those present looked over copies of the Reference Shelf which contained affirmative and negative briefs of the questions for the season. Resolved that the present jury system should be changed. Selected articles and a bibliography of books and periodicals relating to the question were also discussed. Six of these books are now in the library for the use of the Debate Squad.

Must Be Trained

His theme was principally the changing conditions in the business world and the adjustments which are being and must be made. Said Mr. Rasmussen, "In this new business world, the business man must be trained. This is a requisite of good citizenship."

Scientific Age

He pointed out that business must be adjusted to the times, and, as this is a scientific age. Those who participate in business must approach it in a scientific spirit. Economics is, as he pointed out, the study of wealth-getting and wealth using; so those who would beat make and use their money should study Economics.

Experience A Hard School

He continued by saying, "Experience has been a hard school for the business world, but it has been a profitable one. Control of the business cycle is beginning to wipe out the danger of panics and booms."

Quotes Horace Mann

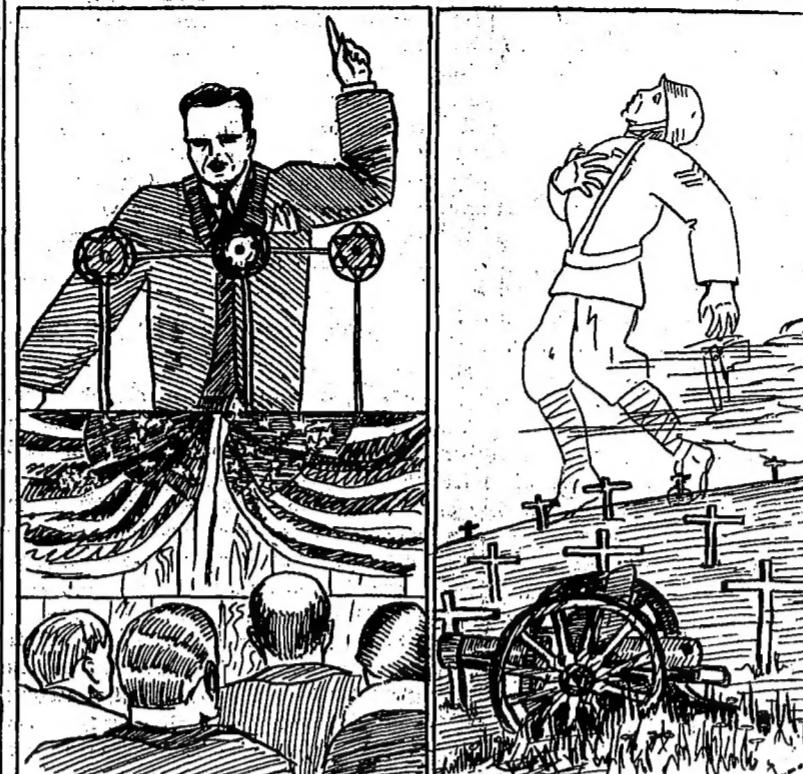

As a conclusion Mr. Rasmussen quoted Horace Mann, "Let us labor for larger and larger comprehension of the truth, that more and more thorough repudiation of error, which shall make the history of man a series of ascending developments."

On, Gang, On...

An Armistice Thought

OMAHA PLAYS DEFENSIVE GAME AND LOSES TO MARYVILLE BY 12-0 SCORE

Cardinals Fight Heavier Team in Snow Storm at Out-of-Town Game and Are Thrown For the First Loss of the Season

DOES NOT EFFECT N. I. A. A. RATING

Fighting on a slippery muddy field made one and Maryville three in a heavy snowstorm against a Long runs put them over. The Bearcats which outweighed them thirty pounds to a man, and with such handicaps Omaha could do nothing but try to hold them.

The Maryville line broke through three times in time to outwit the standing of the squad in the Nebraska Intercollegiate Athletic Association, according to A. J. Dunlap.

Besides being outweighed, the light Omaha team was forced to face a severe snowfall which was born on the wings of a sharp north wind. The ball was slippery, and many fumbles because of this, proved costly to the Cardinal team.

Game is a Punting Duel

Because of the mud, both teams wisely resorted to punting. O'Hanlon, in spite of his injuries from the Wayne game, did most of the booting for Omaha. The Teacher's team seemed to have the advantage of distance. The first and only touch-down against Omaha was made during the last part of the first quarter when Sillers, Maryville guard, broke through the line and blocked a punt from behind the Omaha goal, and Burks, end, fell on the ball. The attempted kick by Fisher, quarterback, never left the ground.

Only four first downs were made throughout the entire game. Omaha had only one official on the field. Chesson was chosen to fill the place of the referee.

The Maryville team in the backfield had on rubber suits and foot-

Hudson Chosen As Commer. Club Pres.

Bennie Huff Officiates for Chairman of Club—Talks Are Given.

As the first month of the functioning of the Commercial Club had drawn to a close, the principal business of last Thursday's meeting was to elect new officers. The meeting was called to order by Bennie Huff, in the absence of President Hoover. Before the nominations, Mr. Huff gave a bit of advice to the members: "Think before you speak."

Herbert Hudson, former student, who was enthusiastically welcomed back this fall, swamped the election, defeating Messrs. Hall and George for the office of president. As vice-president, the club now boast Fredrick Aye, who has so often entertained the group with his piano numbers. Miss Dorothy Lozier and Russel Sharp were elected to the offices of secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Mr. Hudson, in a speech following his election, stated that he was proud to step into the shoes of such a man as President Hoover, and that he would continue his policies (Hoover's) throughout the administration. Upon being questioned by Leo Marks as to his views on farm relief, Mr. Hudson reiterated his statement that he was in complete accord with the policies and beliefs of Hoover.

Mr. Aye gave a short talk, saying that although he could not use such language as that of President Hudson, he could still thank them for the honor and do his best in the office. Miss Lozier gave a talk also, as did Mr. Sharp. The latter stated that the office would be a great temptation to him but he would try to overcome it. President Hudson almost made a fatal error by remarking that they were glad to welcome Mr. Sharp among them (the officers).

Leo Marks then entertained the crowd with several selections on his banjo.

The meeting ended with a pep period for the team in their game against Maryville. Community singing, led by Mr. George, was a great success (if you don't believe it, just ask the club members). President Hudson then led in cheering until the meeting adjourned.

In a statement to the reporter later, Mr. Hudson enlarged upon his statement as to his policies, but still on the same line. He said, "The policies of the Hoover administration will be continued as vigorously as heretofore." He then added an invitation to any student on the campus to come and visit the club in some of its meetings.

Student Council Makes Future Plans

Athletic Board Election; Homecoming Day; and Meetings Discussed.

The special meeting of the Student Council, held last Thursday in Room 5, was called, according to the president, for the purpose of completing pending business on the Athletic Board Election. Two students had filed for office, Frederick Peirce, and Duane Hutchinson; and their candidacy was approved unanimously by the council.

Publicity Discussed

Publicity for the coming election and further plans for Home-Coming Day were discussed. Other probable duties of the council were also mentioned, and official action may be taken on the suggestions at a future period.

Other Councils

The regular meeting of the Executive Committee was declared to be held in the Gateway office on Monday afternoons at 2:00. Leah Daubenheyer, secretary, reported that she had received replies from Peru Normal and Wayne Normal concerning information of their respective student councils. These letters shall be read at a future meeting of the council.

Students Display Pep at Assembly

Although everyone was downtown because they could not be with the team at Maryville last Friday, the pep show at the assembly proved that the university is composed of a group of students and teachers who possess a keen sense of spirit. A collection was taken to send the team a telegram to cheer them in the game.

Dean James led the assembly in a responsive reading, which was impressive. Pep rolls were given under the leadership of the cheer leaders and the meeting closed with a song.

IT'S UP TO YOU

The majority of students enrolled at the university were too young to appreciate the first Armistice Day. Many of them wondered why whistles blew; why bells rung; and why there were tears of happiness as well as sadness, on that memorable November 11, 1918.

They could not understand that to gain perpetual peace was the purpose of that one bloody combat, a war the terror and horror of which no words can ever describe. When the welcome signal of peace suddenly came, all the world prayed that that Armistice Day might be the beginning of a never-ending era of peace among the nations of the world.

This has not been; this cannot be until the youth of leading nations, of which our own United States is the leader, realizes that war is a menace not to be tolerated. Then it is their duty, as world leaders, to have the courage of their convictions, and to fulfill their ideals in action.

It will take a country with men of high intellect to realize the necessity for World Peace and to act toward this realization.

American colleges and universities are the training camps of the future citizens of our country. It is in these institutions that they are taught the value of peace and the sinfulness of war.

On November 11 this year, let us of the University of Omaha appreciate the part we may have in this great program of World Peace. Let us resolve to have a part, an active part, in it.

"There was never a good war or a bad peace."—Benjamin Franklin.

THE GATEWAY STAFF SAYS

The newspaper is modern. It is a growing institution. It is here to stay.

If the U. of O. expects to measure up to the highest standards and meet the program of expansion and advancement which has been set, it must have its newspaper. The subscription price of a University weekly would be prohibitive without some advertising.

Yet, the business men of Omaha expect a return for their investments in the Gateway. Ads are inserted to get results. They help make the paper successful. It is the duty of every student and faculty member to patronize our advertisers whenever possible.

When you purchase from a firm that advertises in the U. of O. paper, tell them you read their ad in the Gateway. Let these business men know that it pays to advertise in your university paper. This is showing loyalty to the University of Omaha and helping put out the Gateway.

The staff needs your support!

"He who did well in war just earns the right to begin doing well in peace."—Robert Browning in Lysistrata, Act 2.

"Ghosts may be seen from the bottom of a deep well when they descend from the top of a mountain. We are many who descend in adversity which the prosperous man dreams not of."

—O. H. St. John.

If you don't see how you can possibly be any worse off than you are now—up! You've nothing to worry about.

When you speak to other people for their good, it is influence; when you speak to you for your good, it is interference.

Who's Who at the U. of O.

MRS. PEARL L. WEBER Normal Training Instructor

Everyone knows Mrs. Weber, who has been at the University of Omaha for six years. She claims Chicago, Ill., as her home town. Her degrees of Ph. B. and M. A. were both obtained from the University of Chicago, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Mrs. Weber has also taken work at Cornell University.

Mrs. Weber has had a great deal of experience, having taught at the Southwest Kansas College, Muncie Normal at Muncie, Ind., Aurora College, and Illinois Women's College before coming to the U. of O.

Teaching school is her hobby, she assured the reporter. "The University of Omaha is better than ever this year," according to Mrs. Weber.

Mrs. Weber is well able to understand folks, as she is the mother of four children. Her son is the Superintendent of Schools in Huron, Ill., and her other three children are young women, ranging in age from 16 to 23.

So, if you want to get acquainted with one of the university's boosters, as well as faculty members, just join a course in General Psychology, and profit from a real friendship and interesting subject matter.

MERLE MINNIE, Student Mgr. of The Football Team

The most versatile man on the campus this year is Merle Mennie. Merle comes from Pine Island, Minn., where he attended high school for two years, having had his first two years at Central High School, Minneapolis, Minn. He is taking a course in Commercial Arts and Business Advertising. Where ever there is work to be done, there you will find Merle. This, his junior year, finds him exceedingly busy, as Student Manager of the Football Team, President of Theta Phi Delta fraternity, Assistant Manager of the Glee Club and Sport Editor of the Gateway. That Merle is a born business man is easily seen as he is treasurer of three organizations, namely, Paint-Pot, Pan-Hellenic Council, and the Junior Class.

In his first two years at the U. of O. he was scarcely less active, being a member of the German Club, Advertising Manager of the Y. M. C. A. staff of the Annual Gala Day committee, being the chairman last year, the Paint Pot, treasurer last year, and active in Varsity Varieties. During his freshman year, he was the manager of the Debate Squad.

Last year found Merle delving into the realm of sports. He was the Sport Editor of the Gateway, and tried to win fame for the U. of O. on the gridiron. The fever still persisted and when the call came for basketball, Merle responded. He is one of the school's best boosters. When asked his opinion

ARMISTICE DAY

Ten years ago the world stood still

For just a little space;

The veneer off, each one rejoiced,

Love shone on every face.

Ten years ago the war was o'er;

The fighting all was done,

The statesman said, "We'll fight no more;

The reign of Peace is begun."

And now today what things are said;

Have nations ceased their strife?

Have War and Terror lost their sway?

Has Peace gained a new life?

Has hatred left the nations' words,

Does Peace still reign supreme?

Do Love and Friendship hold their torch

High with its radiant beam?

We, each of us, must do our part

To make this world war-free;

The men who died for freedom left

This task, for you and me.

Peace on earth, to men good-will,

The angels' song thus ran—

And each one here must build his share

In the Brotherhood of Man.

By Phyllis Warrick

IN MEMORIAM.

I'm a-thinking up in heaven.

There's rejoicing and there's song,

For the one who's just come home to them;

They've waited for so long;

I'm a-thinking they'll be smiling

When they see his kindly face,

And I'm thinking they'll be praising

The way he's run his race.

I'm a-thinking up in heaven.

There's rejoicing and there's song,

Though we earth-folk lost a friend,

Seems somehow that he'd belong

Up in heaven, there surrounded

By the friends who've gone before—

Though we're sad, they're probably smiling

Over far from days of yore.

I'm a-thinking up in heaven.

There's rejoicing and there's song,

For our friend and guide and comrade,

Now has joined the heavenly throng,

And I'm thinking now he's watching

O'er our work and o'er our fun,

That he's waiting for our victories

So that he can say, "Well done."

Written in memory of Dr. Julius F. Schwarz

A FRIEND

Like sleep to the eyes of the weary;

A fire at the long trail's end;

A single light, in a sea of night;

That is the way with a friend.

A spring in the sands of the desert;

A book that is never quite done;

A poem too perfect for phasing;

All these and a friend are one.

Like a gypsy road through the autumn hills;

When will it come to an end?

I cannot tell, but I wish you well,

Today.....and forever.....my friend."

"Loe"

"AFTERMATH"

(Siegfried Sassoon, English soldier who served in the World War.)

Have you forgotten yet?

For the world's event have rumbled on since those days,

Like traffic checked a while at the crossing of city ways;

And the haunted gap in your mind had dilled with thoughts that flew

Like clouds in the lit heavens of life; and you're a man reprieved to go,

Taking your peaceful share of time, with joy to spare.

But the past is just the same,—and War's a bloody game

Have you forgotten yet?

Look down, and swear by the stain of the war that you'll never forget.

Do you remember the dark mouths you held the sector at Nantun—

The nights you watched and wired and dug and piled sandbags on parapets?

Do you remember the rats; and the stench

Of corpses rotting in front of the front-line trench—

And down coming, drily-white, and still with a hopeless rain?

Do you ever stop and ask, "Is it all going to happen again?"

Do you remember the hour of dim before the attack—

And the anger, the blind compassion that seized and shook you then

As you gazed at the doomed and haggard face of your men?

Do you remember the stretcher-bearers herding back

With dying eyes and lolling heads, these ash-grey

Masks of the lads who once were keen and kind and gay?

MONEY!!!

The Sunday School was almost over; the teacher said, "As you drop your pennies into the box, give a Bible verse pertaining to giving."

The first little girl said, "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver." The next little girl said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

The next child was a little boy and as he dropped his penny into the box he said, "The fool and his money are soon parted."

COMMERCE SCHOOL HAS RECREATIONAL PERIOD

"When the cat's away, the mice will play" is an old and trite saying. Notwithstanding, if any passerby had peeped in the offices at the College of Commerce, last Thursday when Dean Dunlap was away, he would have had ample proof of this statement.

First and foremost, a football practice seemed to be in progress. Outside of the railing, which separates the inner sanctum from the other portions of the room, various plays were being illustrated inside, where Coach Hulka sat, plays were being discussed in football jargon.

However, football did not alone have the field, for finance came in for a share of it. Mary McMillan, club treasurer, was tracking delinquent members to collect their dues.

Mary McMillan, newly elected president of the club sat strumming tunes (soft) on the guitar of Lee Marks, just for the sake of harmony, you know.

And the poor secretary tried to carry on her work.

Miss Schaefer whose writing competence adorns the annals of our president, has developed into a very efficient stenographer. She has developed the rare ability of chewing gum without allowing it to influence her spelling. More power to Wiggy.

Pi O Dance Displays Original Costumes

Styles of All Nations Are Effectively Used by the Girls.

Hallowe'en is past—but Alice Johnson, petite Pi O pledge, didn't let that keep her from wearing an orange and black clown costume to the miniature "Ak-sar-ben Ball" in the gym last Thursday night. The costume had dainty organdie frills around the neck and wrists.

Shirley Phillips had perhaps the most elaborate costume worn at the ball, a Spanish ensemble of rose satin lavishly trimmed in black lace with an effective head-dress and French-heeled satin pumps.

Florence Jetter, Kappa pledge, chose a poppy black costume with dainty frills at neck and wrists.

Ellen Ann Slader was characteristically dressed as a clown, which, incidentally, was orange and black also, and emphasized her sunny disposition.

Jean Ingwersen chose to be a baker, with a white tam a' shanter, 'n' everything! Four huge buttons of white made striking contrast to the black baker's costume.

Helen Stidham, last year's Sig Chi president, also came from Spain—with a Spanish shawl becomingly draped for a costume.

A dazzling Pierrot costume was worn effectively by Margaret Addy, Gladys Hanson and Leah Daubenheyer, both Pi O's, were prim old-fashioned Misses in pale pink gowns.

Burdine Jones came clear from quaint old Holland in a clever blue and yellow costume.

Sally Maria Louisa Christina Agustina Jensen chose to be "different" and appeared in street clothes—or dance clothes, as you will.

And lest we forget, last, but by no means least, Kathryn Cook, Pi O pledge, chose to wear a ruffly blue "kid" dress which becomingly took her back to "childhood days."

And that's all—of this—but not all of the girls who came to the dance.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

The modern European History class would be dry if it were not for the talks on Al Smith.

Speaking of grades, it is not so much what marks you make at the start it is the marks you make at the finish. We will admit that a good start is a big factor in the winning of the race.

You Chemistry students who do not understand Boyle's law, go down to Boyle's College and boil it out.

Chemically speaking, people either have an acid or basic reaction: they either turn people pink with whom they come in contact, or they cause them to become blue.

The winning of the Wayne game probably was due to spontaneous combustion.

Don't you think that the student body is a good example of a catalytic agent?

The festivities are scheduled to start at 8:00 o'clock, and they include indoor baseball, boxing, music, singing, lighter amusements in the "Y" Den, and refreshments in the cafeteria.

According to Don Butler the refreshments alone are worth coming after.

What more could a person ask in order to have an enjoyable evening?

All men students and faculty members are cordially invited.

Art Students Revert To Childhood Days

Canary and Goldfish Add Bits of Color to the Art Department

Shades of A. A. Milne and Mother Goose! Could it be that the art students are reverting back to childhood days?

You hadn't noticed it?—Then put on your bonnet and dash upstairs; burst into the room and discover—a Dickey Bird.

The maker is a deep, dark secret as far as the reporter's concerned, but there it stands, resplendent in the brilliant paint which constitutes its plumage. With one eye cocked impudently at new-comers, it takes in all the surrounding scenery, including the students and their work.

Nothing could escape it, none of the paintings, designs, copperwork, or even (perhaps one should say most certainly) the charming, fancy-free, designs of the wall hangings. A lesser personage than this rare bird might stop and gaze upon the glory of the assembled colors, but it still lets its gaze rove over other things of interest.

Goldfish Is Lord

Perhaps it is jealous of the little gold-fish which swim about in the bowl, usurping its position as mascot. No matter, still it stands and gazes over the art rooms, lord of all its works.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Members of Both "Y" Cabinets in Joint Meet

Financial Program and Membership Activity Are Discussed

After retreat last Wednesday evening, the cabinets of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. held a joint meeting. Both sponsors, Mrs. Stevenson and Dr. Vartanian, and nine officers of the organization were present. A joint budget was presented, showing the approximate estimate of the cost of the activities which are sponsored by the "Y" organizations.

The separate organizations plan to have one social function each month; except when they sponsor all school activities such as the mixer, formal, banquet, and formal reception. The definite date set for the banquet is November 27, the Tuesday before Thanksgiving. The banquet will be held downtown in some hotel banquet hall. This is a banquet for everyone in the school. The theme of the banquet has not yet been decided upon. This will make one formal affair each semester.

The cabinets decided to have a definite date for the joint cabinet meeting. It will be the second Friday of each month. The next meeting will be held at the home of Elma Gove November 16. These meetings will be semi-business and semi-social.

They will be held at the various homes of members of the cabinets.

JOINT MEETING TRIBUTE TO DR. SHWARZ' MEMORY

The Y. M. and Y. W. held a joint meeting in the Conservatory on October 30, dedicated to the memory of Dr. Julius F. Schwarz.

The meeting was opened by Elma Gove, and a song was sung by the group. A few moments were devoted to silent prayer, closed by Dr. Vartanian.

Professor Logan sang a solo accompanied on the piano by Irene Goosman.

Merle Minnie told of his personal contacts with Dr. Schwarz—how he was a friend to all—and urged all students of the school to pay their final respects to a man who had laid down his life for the university by attending his funeral service.

Margaret Fischer told how she had known Dr. Schwarz to be a personal friend of every student, and how he greeted everyone with a warm smile and salutation.

Dr. E. W. Emery closed the meeting by saying, "The place of Dr. Schwarz in the school life can never be filled; but, nevertheless, we must carry on, ever retaining a place for him in our memory as a man who has worked in, with, and finally died for the university."

PERSONALS

Miss Delphine Skinner spent the weekend at Graceland College, in Iowa.

Dr. H. C. Miller was host at a dinner party on Friday evening, November 2, at which Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Emery were guests.

Cribbing

"What ya doing, big boy?" a college student inquired.

"I'm writing home to Mother," said his room mate.

"Well, when you get through copying those verses from Indian Love Lyrics let me know, I'm going to write home to my mother, too."

ETHICS STUDIES HOLD PROHIBITION DEBATE

for the negative, debated thus: "Prohibition is not a failure because it has desirable results economically, morally, and ethically (restriction is necessary), and as to enforcement, the laws against theft and killing do not end robberies and murders."

There has been an increase in annual savings, and employment. There is better family life, and better conditions in the problem of food and clothing in the homes." She stated that anything which enslaves the will of man is morally wrong. Prohibition has made possible a realization of better manhood and womanhood; therefore it has been a success ethically.

Thomas Byrne, second affirmative debater, said that the prohibition law made allowance for a privileged class, thus showing discrimination.

He said that there is a larger criminal class, graft has increased in newspapers, and in the police force.

Violation of one law leads to the violation of other laws. The cost of enforcement and the loss in revenue has netted two hundred billion dollars to the United States. This economical loss effects morals through unemployment and in the homes.

He stated that the annual consumption of hard liquor has been doubled. By violation of the law, a person opens himself to arrest and makes himself a criminal. This is wrong ethically.

Donald Furness' points may be summarized as follows: Forty-two states ratified the amendment; government and civilization progresses by restriction of personal freedom—only barbarians enjoy entire personal liberty; are the evils stated by the affirmative prevalent throughout the nation; and a statement by Edison says that the enforcement has been 90% effective.

Should Prohibit Smoking

Neil Chapman briefly summarized the argument of his colleagues: "There is no decrease in consumption; it has merely shifted to another class. No one has a right to enforce an ethical principle on others. If this can be allowed prohibition on all such excesses as smoking, athletics, etc., would be necessary."

Merle Minnie told of his personal contacts with Dr. Schwarz—how he was a friend to all—and urged all students of the school to pay their final respects to a man who had laid down his life for the university by attending his funeral service.

Margaret Fischer told how she had known Dr. Schwarz to be a personal friend of every student, and how he greeted everyone with a warm smile and salutation.

Howard Hansen, last speaker for the negative, gave facts showing that increased economic conditions affect the name favorably enabling bank accounts, home ownership, enjoyment together of leisure in parks and children in school. Emphatically, he said, "Any nation that uses wrenched bodies of men, women and children as a basis for revenue should not stand." He compared death rates and insanity due to alcoholism. From a questionnaire circulated by the Literary Digest, it was proved that drinking has decreased since the 18th amendment. "Any law which deprives people of personal liberties in order to benefit others is morally right. The highest liberty one has is to attain to highest moral ideals. If a law succeeds in this attainment it is ethically a success."

Negative Wins

A vote for decision taken on the basis of argument was 2 for the time.

GREEK JABS

Leah Daubenheyer appears to be the schools' matrimonial agency, but as being under obligations to Leah is worse than going without a date business is failing off, thank you.

Duane Hutchinson still persists in staying within the ranks of those known as engaged, but he may startle the school by dating one of those cute freshmen who have put in their appearance this year.

Florence Jetter, last but not least of the famous Jetter sisters, is apparently reigning supreme as queen of the Hash House, which can be vouched for by the majority of the young gentlemen to whom her royal highness has consented to speak.

GET READY FOR BLAIR

This week, Coach Ernie Hubka is going to take Johnny and his gang up to Blair with the big idea of hanging another scalp on the Card's war belt. The boy's have been fighting hard, and giving up many pleasures in order to preserve their new found name, "Scrapers."

It is up to the student body to go with the team this week, and score a victory over the Dana rooters while the red jerseyed fellows are taking the Dana team into camp.

We can excuse the fact that the team did not have a bunch of followers down at the "Show Me" game, but there is no reason for a poor turnout at the game up the stream aways. Roads are good, and the drive is only a short distance, so rain or shine, PACK UP THE GANG IN THE OLD FAMILY BUS AND HIKE, HIKE, HIKE to Blair.

SUCH SCHOOL SPIRIT!!!

The administration of the University of Omaha is striving to make this a worth-while university ranking high in scholastic gradings and high in the general opinion of Omaha Citizens.

It is impossible to expect them to do the whole task themselves. There must be cooperation on the part of the student body or their efforts will have no results.

There has been a noticeable let-down in the spirit, shown by the student body, in the last few weeks. The Activities have not been getting the support that they ought to have and that they need in order to become successful. The game with Wayne Normal, one of the best games we have had, was attended by only a small number of the students, and those who were there did not support the yell leaders as they should. Students, that is our only method of helping OUR football team win OUR games. We can't expect the team to do its part unless do ours. And ours is to get out there and yell, and show them that we are behind them, that we want them to win. It is most disheartening to fight until you are ready to drop for a school that is not even interested enough in you to come out to see you play and encourage you.

Support your various classes in all they are trying to do. Get behind them and push. The leaders of these organizations are not trying to promote their activities for their own personal glory, but for the glory and success of the school. It is up to you, each student, to do everything in your power to make them a success.

Identify your personal wishes for the moment. Get your student the night before, and come to assembly. Eat at the cafeteria and have a tub, and give it the benefit of your patronage, for the above for your benefit—not for profit. Go to the games, and when you do, yell your hardest for your team and for your unit. If the girl or your class is giving a party, come to their meetings, help in the organization of it, and then aid in every way you can to make it a success.

Members of the U. of O. the University can never be a success unless we personally choose to help make it so! May we COUNT on you—Freddy.

W. A. A. Sponsors Swimming Classes

AGAIN FREDDY RAVES!

"Ud-Mud"

Did anyone hear a long deep groaning sound about seven o'clock Thursday morning? Oh, surely you must have! All Omaha University, waking up Thursday morning and seeing the rain, expressed their feelings very enthusiastically! Little groups of mourners were to be found condoling with each other all around the campus. Various plans for relief were offered. Prof. Hammer suggested that a good way to solve the problem and to give the boys a good work-out would be to hire a mud-plow and have the football team push it to Maryville. Boehler objected because he said that his ankle wouldn't stand the strain. Miss Schaefer was overheard saying that she just didn't see why everyone didn't get out their galoshes and hike over, as it wasn't very far. But Mr. McKibbin objected to that because he said that he had given his away last spring to the janitor and the janitor wouldn't think it very nice if he asked for them back. But the railroad solved the problem when they called up and said that they had an unused flat car that they thought would be ideal to take the gang over in. They very nicely said that they would donate the use of it if we promised not to get it wet. Now, wasn't that nice of them? Everything settled, off they started, with Prof. Kuhn at the head playing "look-see" under his umbrella and munching the usual apple.

—Freddy.

OVAL PICKUPS

Mr. Hoover doesn't know that he had an ardent supporter and stump speaker in Gabriel George.

Hutchinson took plenty of swan dives on Friday.

Barber showed what he was mad of when he broke through and stopped three consecutive Maryville plays.

We heard words of wrath from Roberts for the first time this season.

Utterback looks like he is an IN and OUT, judging from the fact that he held down the guard position for only one play.

O'Hanlon was putting out every ounce of his energy to win. He is the champion bad-luck man of the team. With injuries sustained in the other games, he went into the game, and was unfortunate enough to receive more injuries which may lay him up for the rest of the season.

Huff's generalship showed up strongly. If Bennie was ever hurt, it would leave a large hole in the team that would be hard to fill.

Mathews, an understudy of O'Hanlon's, did not get very much time in the game, but showed up well while there.

Quisenberry was knocked out in the third quarter, and couldn't see things. He was game through it all, and declared that he would play on if he could see the ball at all.

Hewlett, expecting to play center, was put in at guard where he performed creditably, despite the fact that he hasn't played that position for a week.

Helmstader doesn't say much, but it is not the man who is talkative who is the fighter, but the man who keeps quiet that smacks the other team down.

Boehler played the full game at left guard, and helped to make the line impregnable.

Bolen, although hurried on some of his punts by the onrushing Maryville line, got off some good boots.

Fancy
The new office girl at Mease, Brown, Ltd., was trying very hard to be efficient in all things.

When a bothersome visitor came one afternoon, she took his card into the chief.

"Oh, I can't spare any time on that creature!" declared the great man.

"Go and tell him I'm out."

The girl returned to the traveler.

"I'm sorry," she said. "But Mr. Brown says he is out."

"Indeed," said the traveler a bit sarcastically. "Well, would you be good enough to present him my compliments and say that I haven't called."

The prima for the saddest event of the month goes to the mortician who lost himself one dark night. He saw a sign on a post. With difficulty he climbed out and struck a match and said, "Wet Paint."

Students Enthusiastic Over School Spirit

Students at the University of Omaha widely disagree concerning the football team and the school spirit. For the most part, however, the team's greatness was unanimous, but as to the school spirit opinions differed.

Ruth Paxton, president of the Pi O pledges, states, "We have a marvelous team, but the school spirit at the games is poor. The spirit at Assembly is not so bad, though."

Helen Towl, peppy cheer leader and Sig. Chi pledge, believe that we have a very good football team, but we need much more school spirit.

"Everything is great!" according to Vivian Kriesel, active Y. W. worker; "I'm just wild about the football team. The school spirit is fine! Everybody is pushing toward the top. We can't help but win."

"Individually the football is keen," says Ellen Ann Slader, the senior who refuses to be sedate.

"Happy" Cathers, basketball star, optimizes, "Everything is just lively! Both have improved over last year."

Dr. H. O. Miller, adept literary student, says, "It's wonderful [of the team]. The school spirit is especially fine this year."

"The football team is doing fine," opinions Evelyn Plouzek, Secretary-Treasurer of the Gamma Sigs. "The school spirit is good so far! There's been a good attendance at the games," says Evelyn, "but it's not so good at Assembly."

Claude Slinett, Theta pledge, says "The school spirit is great! That is easily seen by the team's victories. The team knows that the student body is backing them."

"The team is fine!" according to Stanley Schlick, Y. cabinet member; "the school spirit is 100 per cent better this year than it was last year or any other time."

Katherine Bloss, advanced art student, believes, "The team is great. There is more school spirit than ever before."

One of the two student council representatives for the seniors, Dorothy Manger, declares, "The football team is great! The same holds true for the school spirit; it is the best, yet, at the U. of O."

Stella Adamson, Council Bluffs, co-ed, says, "The football team is making the school."

"The football team is all right!" assures Harold Glass, Alpha Sig pledge. "What we need is more school spirit at the games."

Barbara Dallas, well known dancer and Phi Delt member, is certain that, "The football team is fine. The school spirit is better than ever before. The cheer leaders are doing their best to promote and cultivate that."

Sportitorial

Dana's next, Gang! Last Friday's score of 12 to 0 against Omaha's scrapping eleven does not discourage anyone. Neither are we disheartened.

Rather do we feel the greatest pride in the fact that the U. of O. team held Maryville to one touchdown and three safeties.

A cold north wind was blowing during the entire fracas, and snow fell throughout the first half. Our men played against a team that outweighed them thirty pounds to the man, and fought away from home with no band and no rooters.

Yet, the spirit which went with the team was high, and a real inspiration to the players. They fought as they had never fought before, and lost by the lowest score turned in against a U. of O. football team in three seasons.

We're for you, fellows! Congratulations, Coach Hubka, on your great squad! The students and faculty have caught the spirit of their 1928 football men. Everyone is back of you, team, for the rest of the season as never before. Let's give Dana the fight of her life!

BAND MEMBERS ARE DISAPPOINTED

Everyone was disappointed when it rained and snowed last Friday, and made it impossible to take the trip to Maryville by auto, but none were more disappointed than the members of the university band. New members had turned out for the rehearsal last Wednesday, and the prospects for excellent music were encouraging.

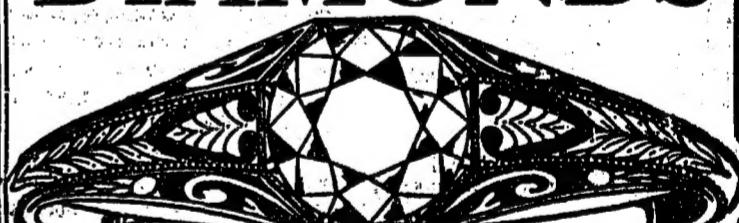

Bus Chartered

A bus was chartered for the trip, and then it rained. And then it snowed. And then it "blowed." Anxious inquiries were made of the Dean and of Professors Guilford and Logan as to the condition of the roads between here and Maryville. Finally everything was called off, and from that hour on, a group of long faced musicians wandered about the university.

One band member declares that he will walk to Blair if there is no other way of getting there. The practice for the Blair game will be held in the gym tonight at seven o'clock.

school spirit is better than ever before. The cheer leaders are doing their best to promote and cultivate that."
